INTRODUCTION

This work presents the original marriage returns, i.e. the returns of the official who performed the marriages. Therefore, this is not a complete record of all marriages which were performed in Oakland County between 1836 and 1884, but rather a record of the actual returns now held by the Oakland County Clerk's office.

The amount of information given on the return varies greatly. The earlier ones tend of provide the name of the couple, age, place of residence, date and place of the marriage, the person officiating, and the witnesses. Later returns usually provide, in addition, the birthplaces of the couple and the occupation of the groom. When the record names several witnesses "and others," the "and others," are not named. The wonder is that so many of the actual marriage returns have survived. Many of the earlier ones are handwritten on scraps of paper. Many are battered, faded, patched, and had been folded for many years. The spelling is often very poor so it behooves the reader to stretch his imagination to find the person for whom he is searching. The names are often spelled phonetically, sometimes by guess, other times by hastiness or carelessness. Several pages of photocopies are included to show the variety of ways the marriage returns were written. Many of them were held by the official for some time after the event before being sent on to the courthouse. It is quite possible that some returns were never sent in.

The names of the brides and grooms are presented here in alphabetical order. The name of the bride refers the reader to the name of the groom, under whose name appears the total information as given in the record.

The original returns from which this work was compiled are located in the Record Retention Division of the Oakland County Courthouse, Pontiac, Michigan. They are filed by year in folders. Some ministers frequently sent in lists of marriages and these are more difficult to locate since several years of records could be on one list. In this situation, the list will be found filed under the year of the first marriage recorded on the list. In 1884 (and later years), the returns are consistently numbered which is helpful in locating the record. Between 1878 and 1883, the numbering system seems to be sporadic and the easiest way to access them is by year. Where numbers exist, they are noted in parentheses ( ) at the end of the entry. The records have been copied as written, misspelling included. The mention of color is the only information which has been omitted from the records except when other than white. Those of color appear in the records as given, A or African, Black, Brown, Bright, Colored, Dark, or Mulatto.
